At the request of the Air Force representative, a rump session of the Ad Hoc Requirements Committee was called in the Pentagon. Colonel Macia at that time wished to re-examine with the Committee the validity of the Committee's views on the use of AQUATONE in connection with targets in the Satellite area, and, in particular, Hungary (reference: [redacted] (ARC-M-21) paragraphs 1 through 5). The Committee concluded that its views had not changed.
